

Distance Education Anywhere. Anytime.

Students enrolled will:

- Complete a degree in a fully online program
- Earn a degree or certificate from a nationally accredited and respected institution
- Acquire the education and skills to better serve military personnel and their family members
- Prepare for a career serving military families around the world

Get started today on a degree or certificate in:

Early Education and Care for a Mobile Society
Family and Community Services
Family Financial Planning
Youth Development

For more information:

The Military Academic Advancement Program
<http://www.hsidea.org/maap>

Other available programs of study include the following:

Community Development
Dietetics
Family and Consumer Sciences Education
Gerontology
Merchandising
Military, Veterans and Families

For more information, visit:

<http://www.hsidea.org/programs>

The Military Academic Advancement Program was developed with funding provided by the Department of Defense, Office of the Secretary of Defense, Military Community and Family Policy, Office of Family Readiness Policy/Children and Youth through a partnership with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, National Institute of Food and Agriculture, Institute of Youth, Family, and Community under Kansas State University special project #2010-48869-20728.

The Military Academic Advancement Program

Providing quality distance education programs to the military community

The Military Academic Advancement Program

The Department of Defense has joined together with the Department of Agriculture and the Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance to provide quality distance education programs to service members, their spouses and children, and civilian professionals. The Military Academic Advancement Program provides students with resources to earn an undergraduate or graduate-level education in community services and help support the military community.

The program works through the Great Plains IDEA, an interinstitutional academic association of accredited public research universities, to offer quality online degree programs to the military community. These “anytime, anywhere” degree programs can help you obtain a career in a community support program.

Get Started

If working to further serve the military community sounds like an amazing opportunity to you, MAAP is here to help you make that a reality.

1 Early Care and Education for a Mobile Society

A bachelor's degree program with an emphasis on those whose family members are highly mobile, qualifying students to work in early care and education programs in the community and on military installations

2 Family and Community Services

A 36-credit-hour master's degree program focusing on support services for individuals, families and communities

3 Family Financial Planning

A 42-credit-hour master's degree program, an 18-credit-hour graduate certificate qualifying students to take the Certified Financial Planner exam, or an 18-credit-hour graduate certificate in financial and housing counseling, qualifying students to take the Accredited Financial Counselor exam

4 Youth Development

A 36-credit-hour master's degree program in youth development, a 13-credit-hour youth evaluation specialist graduate certificate, or a 13-credit-hour youth program management and evaluation graduate certificate

Once you've selected your program, your next step is to choose a school to call home.

Choose Your University

The program is offered by schools around the country:

- Iowa State University
- Kansas State University
- Michigan State University
- University of Missouri
- Montana State University
- University of Nebraska-Lincoln
- North Carolina State University
- North Dakota State University
- Oklahoma State University
- South Dakota State University
- Texas Tech University

Get your degree, become a professional service provider and help our military families thrive!